

Pahlen Realty remains an essential business. We are committed to achieving safe and successful real estate transactions.

Banks, real estate companies and title companies are considered essential and remain open for business. Many real estate dealings can be done electronically, limiting in-person contact. For showings and inspections where there must be contact, we will continue to follow the CDC guidelines to limit the spread of COVID-19. We have received many questions about how our Company is handling things in this uncharted time and felt it was a good idea to address them.

Are we still listing homes for sale?

Yes, we are. The housing inventory in our area remains low as do the interest rates. We still have active buyers in our area which means this is a great opportunity to sell your home at top dollar. However, for anyone that has underlying health risks, we would advise waiting.

Are we still showing homes?

Yes, we are. We continue to take strict safety precautions and the showings we are conducting are to selective and qualified buyers only.

What is the proper etiquette for looking at a home?

- Please bring only necessary people to the showing - limiting children if able
- Remove shoes outside the door
- No handshakes
- Masks are recommended
- Please allow only the agent to touch light switches and door knobs
- Wash hands before and after
- Most important: If you are not feeling well, please stay home and do not go on showings

What should I do if I need to buy or sell a home right now?

Give us a call. We are experienced Realtors that have your best interest in mind. We can navigate this uncharted time together.
